GINNERS GROUPS TOLD GET TOGETHER

FEDERAL JUDGE AT HOUSTON SELECTS COMMITTEE FIVE

THREE FACTIONS FORMED AS RESULT RECENT INJUNCTION IN FEDERAL COURT

HOUSTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—Judge T. M. Kennerly in federal court today urged ginner and others involved in a controversy over the Bankhead Act to try to reach an agreement and not hold up the Texas cotton crop.

The judge made his plea to three groups concerned in the fight for an extension of a temporary injunction restraining government agencies from compelling cotton ginner to comply with the Bankhead act. To facilitate the working out of a solution, Judge Kennerly appointed a committee of five members. Judge Kennerly appointed former Governor Dan Moody to head the committee. Governor Moody represents a faction of cotton ginner who want to comply with the provisions of the Bankhead act.

Court was adjourned until 2 p. m. Committee Is Named. Most of the morning was spent by attorneys in explaining to Judge Kennerly the background of the case. About two thirds of the Texas cotton crop will be affected by the decision in the hearing.

Other members of the committee are: J. E. Ginn, Jr., president of the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association; J. E. Ginn, Jr., president of the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association; J. E. Ginn, Jr., president of the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association.

CONGRESSIONAL LOBBYING INVESTIGATORS KEEP SHARP LOOKOUT FOR HOPSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—A sharp lookout was kept today for H. C. Hopson, missing utilities magnate, but no clue was obtained as to when he would be found for questioning by congressional lobby-investigating committees.

Investigators of the house rules committees intimated that Hopson, much-sought as the dominating influence in the Associated Gas and Electric System, was "somewhere in Maryland" and that a "break" in the hunt might be expected momentarily. Earlier they had been acting on a belief that he was somewhere in Virginia.

Meanwhile senate-house conferees had made some progress toward settling the dispute over the Roosevelt utilities bill, in fighting which the Associated Gas system was a major factor.

POST AND ROGERS CONTINUED STAY IN JUNEAU WEDNESDAY

WILEY WANTED FISH WHILE WILL WANTED TO FLY ON AND LASSO REINDEER

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 8.—(P)—Post and Rogers continued their stay in Juneau today. Rogers, who is flying his new red pontoon-equipped monoplane, is planning to fly to the round-the-world flier, yearned for fishing with light tackle.

Rogers, the cowboy philosopher, urged a quick take-off for Nome so he could "lasso a reindeer."

As much as weather forecasts were unfavorable, Rogers said he would compromise and "let Willy do his fishing."

The two, flying in the plane Post has announced he will use in a flight to Moscow, arrived here yesterday from Seattle, a trip they made in eight hours and 15 minutes.

It was learned from Post that he is expected to visit for a short time with Joe Crosson, an aviator.

JAMES E. TAYLOR RESIGNS AS RELIEF ADMINISTRATOR

WILL RETURN TO KERENS AS DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS FOR THAT CITY

Resignation of James E. Taylor of Kerens as Navarro county relief administrator was received Thursday by N. Suttle Roberts, chairman of the county relief board effective August 15. Taylor was appointed director of public works for the city of Kerens at a meeting of the city council Wednesday afternoon and will begin his duties in that post as soon as he is relieved from his Navarro county post.

Taylor will move his office to Kerens as soon as possible after holding the post of administrator slightly more than thirty days. Officials of the district relief office at Teague are expected to arrive in Corsicana Friday morning to begin the transfer of the county work to the district office, and the task is expected to be completed by the end of the week. The present county social service staff and a skeleton clerical force will be retained here for a time by the district officials.

All purchases, payrolls and other accounting functions which have been handled by the local offices will be handled through the Teague offices after Thursday.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN

DALLAS, Aug. 8.—(P)—The body of Mrs. Juanita Williams, 24, was found today on the Santa Fe line, about eight miles south of Oak Cliff. She had been struck by a train and dragged about 50 feet.

The decision hinges largely on the question whether the senator is willing to run. He has kept silent on that point, but a nationally-known republican who is his close friend said today:

"If Borah could be assured of an adequate expense fund and a good campaign manager, I believe he would enter all the presidential primaries, feeling as he does now."

Now at seventy, he finds his party looking for a candidate who will make the constitution a ringing issue, but who has sufficient liberal leanings to appeal to the western independent wing of republicanism.

Usually spoken of as a leader of the republican "irregulars," Borah actually has stayed "regular" so far as national campaigns are concerned.

For twenty years he has been talked of for president, and his friends attribute to him a long-cherished natural ambition to sit in the white house. Now, they are advising him that because of the usual hazards of advancing years, he must run now or never. No announcement one way or the other is expected from him in the immediate future.

THREE WOMEN AND MAN BURN TO DEATH FOLLOWING CRASH

FATHER, MOTHER AND TWO DAUGHTERS VICTIMS ACCIDENT NEAR ITALY ELLIS CO.

ITALY, Aug. 8.—(P)—Four persons were dead today as a result of a head-on collision of a small sedan and a small truck just north of here.

Two sisters, Misses Alma Allen, 28, and Lovie Allen, 25, were burned to death when the sedan caught fire after the crash. Their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Allen, died of their burns a few hours later in a hospital at Waxahatchie, 15 miles north of here, to which they were taken. Mrs. Allen died first. The Allens lived at Sherman.

Miss Virginia Lee Willeford, 14, who was in the car with the Allens, was burned slightly, as were Virginia's father and mother. The three were treated here.

The accident occurred when the two cars attempted to pass a bus and another car which had stopped for a railroad crossing.

Flood Waters of Ohio Streams In Devastating Sweep

COSHOCTON, O., Aug. 8.—(P)—Flood waters of the rampaging Tuscarawas and Walhonding rivers which have caused damage estimated at $1,000,000 surged together at their confluence here and swept southward into the overflowing Muskingum toward Zanesville, where the crest of the devastating sweep of water was expected at noon.

The high water in Ohio had taken a toll of two lives. A third person was missing. Heavy rains continued last night increasing the flood torrent that sped toward Zanesville. McConnellsville and Marietta. Zanesville officials ordered residents of two sections of the city to vacate their homes.

ETHIOPIAN EMPEROR REFUSES TO PERMIT ADUA CONCENTRATION

HAILE SELASSIE EXPECTS TO USE PUNITIVE SURPRISE TACTICS ON INVADERS

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 8.—(P)—Governmental plans for an Ethiopian mission to Japan, to leave Addis Ababa soon, were disclosed today.

The mission, it was said, by an authority, is to be headed by Duke Elorou, a former official of the foreign office.

The purpose of the Ethiopian party will be kept a close secret. Elorou is experienced in diplomatic negotiations with the Japanese. He accompanied the first Ethiopian mission to Japan in 1932.

That delegation was headed by Foreign Minister Heriou who returned the visit of the Japanese delegation in the coronation of Emperor Haile Selassie.

(In recent days, rumors have been heard in Ethiopia, but officially denied, that a Japanese mission was on its way to the Ethiopian capital.)

The German legation scoffed at rumors, that General Hans Kundt, former commander of the Bolivian army, was in Ethiopia. He described it as another "invented story" like recent fantastic tales that Lawrence of Arabia was still alive and had appeared on the borders of Kenya.

(The Bolivian legation in Berlin stated that General Kundt is still living in Bolivia, although born a German, he has become a naturalized Bolivian.)

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 8.—(P)—Emperor Haile Selassie has refused permission to his warriors to foregather in the vicinity of Adua where an Italian expedition was crushed 40 years ago. Authoritative sources expressed belief today that the King of

PUBLIC HEARING ON NEW TAX BILL CLOSED BY SENATE

NATIONAL CHAMBER COMMERCE LAUNCHES ANOTHER ATTACK ON LEVIES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—After listening to a final blast from organized business against the tax bill passed by the house at President Roosevelt's request, the senate finance committee today concluded public hearings on the measure.

Chairman Harrison immediately called an executive session tomorrow to consider revisions. He expressed hope the bill could be made ready for senate consideration early next week.

Asked what changes were likely, Harrison said:

"We haven't had an exchange of views yet. We will have morning and afternoon sessions and may meet at night."

Ellsworth C. Alvord, a former legislative counsel for congress on tax matters, spoke for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at the committee's final hearing.

"Inequitable" and "uncertain" were some of the terms he applied to the excess profits levy which the house adopted in lieu of the broadly graduated corporate income rates suggested by the president.

"It penalizes conservatively managed enterprises and discriminates against them in favor of inflationistic corporate finance," he declared.

Meanwhile, some committee members indicated they might seek to ease the inheritance levies in the house bill. These range as high as 75 per cent on that portion of an inheritance over $10,000,000.

The excess profits tax against which Alvord protested would be repealed.

ITALY NEEDS NO OUTSIDE HELP IN ETHIOPIA TROUBLE

SECRET MILITARY MANEUVERS INVOLVING HALF MILLION MEN SCHEDULED SOON

By A. E. STUNTZ
Associated Press Foreign Staff

ROME, Aug. 8.—(P)—With secret military maneuvers involving perhaps 500,000 men scheduled shortly for Northern Italy, an Italian government spokesman said today that Italy needs no outside help, "financial or otherwise," in her struggle with Ethiopia.

He made this statement in denying reports that Italy has been seeking cotton credits in New York and he characterized the reports as "stupid and tendentious."

The spokesman said thousands of rumors concerning "Italian requests for loans have been circulated."

"We have denied them time after time because there is no foundation for them," he said. "Interested sources are always talking of our needs. We don't need anything."

The spokesman said that as far as the foreign office knew, Italy was self-sufficient.

NEW YORKER PLENTY HOT TODAY MERELY BECAUSE HE ATTEMPTED TO KEEP COOL IN AN ELEVATOR

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(P)—David Alper was plenty hot today, all because he tried to keep cool.

He was ready, by his own declaration, to carry to the supreme court his contention that he can ride in elevators without first donning a coat.

The shirt-sleeved collector, a 26-year-old six footer, was so insistent in fact, that he landed in court yesterday, charged with disorderly conduct.

For a half hour he had refused to get out of an elevator at the Fashion Center building, in midtown, and the operator had carried the car rather than dangle him upward.

"I have ridden in my shirt-sleeves," the strapping young man proclaimed, "in the St. Moritz, the Marlborough-Plaza, the Empire State, Radio City and nearly every other smart building in town."

"Be that as it may," retorted George Gilbert, elevator starter, "we have a rule in our building that men in shirt-sleeves are not permitted to ride in the passenger elevators."

Gilbert then told Alper where he could find elevators which carried freight and coatless humans, but Alper held his ground—held it, that is, until a policeman dragged him forth.

Magistrate Hulon Capshaw withheld his decision until both sides could submit briefs.

Awaiting his finding were Alper and other champions of masculine emancipation from fashionable dictates in hot weather.

So, to were the Fashion Center building's elevator operators—who don't wear coats with their uniforms.

OPPONENTS TRINITY RIVER CANALIZATION HEARD WEDNESDAY

SEVEN-MEMBER BOARD OF U. S. ENGINEERS HEARING TESTIMONY ON PROJECT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 8.—(P)—Opponents of the Trinity river canalization project charged at a hearing here today before the U. S. board of engineers for rivers and harbors that tonnage estimates for the project made the federal district and division engineer were excessively high. They also claimed that cost and maintenance estimates of the project made by the district engineer are lacking in essential elements, and do not present an accurate financial picture.

The allegation was made that instead of estimated savings of $3,058,000, there actually would be an annual operating loss of $6,700,000. The figures of the district engineer were challenged in a brief presented by George A. Knapp, Houston, special engineer for the Southern Pacific lines, for inter-railroad engineering committee of the Southwestern rail lines.

The canal would represent a total investment cost of $126,587,815 and an annual operation cost of $14,000,000.

Tonnage estimates were questioned by H. B. Cummins, Dallas, representing the Texas-Louisiana Tariff Bureau and Texas class 1 railroads, who declared estimates of the district engineer on cotton, condensed products, and grain and grain products are not borne out by statistics.

Estimates of potential transportation cost savings by water to the Gulf of Mexico as set up by the federal district and division engineers, were challenged today by opponents of the Trinity river canalization plan before the U. S. board of engineers for rivers and harbors.

BILL CLOSING ALL GOLD CLAUSE SUITS PASSED BY SENATE

GOES BACK TO HOUSE FOR CONFERENCE ON AMENDMENTS TO ACT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—The administration resolution to close the courts to gold clause suits against the government after six months was passed today by the senate.

The measure, attacked by its opponents as a "reputation bill," now goes back to the house which already has passed it, for consideration of senate amendments.

As approved by the house, the resolution would have shut off gold clause suits immediately. The chief change made by the senate was to permit them for six months.

The vote by which the senate approved the resolution was 53 to 24.

Despite hot attacks on the measure from both sides of the party aisle, it went through with less than a day's debate. Warnings from critics that it would endanger government credit were denied by administration spokesmen yesterday. The final ballot came suddenly today without a word of debate.

The bill is designed to close up the last loophole left by the Supreme Court's gold clause decision. In that case, the court held that holders of government obligations promising to pay in gold could recover if they could show they were damaged by payment in paper currency.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—Limiting debate administration forces drove toward a vote in the senate today on the bill outlawing gold clause suits against the government.

Protests of "reputation" of federal obligations were raised by some members of both parties, but Democratic leaders apparently were confident they had the

FINAL ELIMINATION MASONRY IN GERMANY DECREED BY HITLER

ALL FREE MASON LODGES THROUGHOUT REICH ORDERED TO END SATURDAY

MELVIN WHITTEWEATHER, Associated Press Foreign Staff
BERLIN, Aug. 8.—(P)—The end of all freemasonic lodges in Germany and the abolition of more world war veterans' organizations were announced today.

Reichsführer Hitler's newspaper stated that on Saturday the last Masonic lodge in the Reich, the State Lodge of Saxony, The Dresden Great Lodge and the "German Brethren Chain" of Leipzig will be dissolved.

Secret police today dissolved the veterans' "Steel Helmet" formation, a paramilitary organization. Mark territory along the western ridge of Pomerania, Poland.

The dissolution of the veteran units was accomplished on the basis of his law of Feb. 28, 1933, for the protection of the people and the state. The property of the steel helmet units were seized.

After dissolution of the old Prussian Free Mason lodge July 21 and the gradual disappearance of smaller lodges in a year-long campaign, the free Mason in Germany—first so-called "state enemies"—thus would be wiped out completely.

AMERICAN FEDERATION LABOR SEEKING EXPOSURE, PUNISHMENT FOR EVERY RACKETEER OF LABOR

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 8.—(P)—The American Federation of Labor wants every labor racketeer "exposed and punished."

This expression of policy came last night from William L. Green, Federation president, after his executive council had appointed three of its members to co-operate in the New York City campaign to drive labor racketeering out of the Metropolitan area.

"The position of the American Federation of Labor toward racketeers is well known," Green said. "We want every racketeer who may fasten himself upon any of our unions exposed and punished."

Charges that racketeers were bleeding workmen of a good share of their pay envelopes have been hurled frequently at union labor in recent years.

Union officials, it has been charged, sometimes have compelled their members to "kick in" part of their wages to keep their jobs.

Conspiracy between labor leaders and contractors to divide the "take" from these "kick in" has been uncovered.

The committee to help Thomas E. Dewey, chief investigator in New York probe, includes Matthew Woll, vice president of the Lithographers Union in Joseph N. Weber, president of the Musicians and David Dubinsky, president of the Ladies Garment Workers. All are vice presidents of the Federation.

ESTIMATE PLACES INDICATED YIELD ABOVE LAST YEAR

APPROXIMATELY 2,100,000 BALES MORE COTTON THAN IN 1934 GROWN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—In its first estimate of the 1935 cotton crop, the Department of Agriculture today predicted a total production of 11,798,000 five hundred pound bales, 2,100,000 bales more than last year.

Secretary Wallace simultaneously announced "adequate credit facilities" would be made available for orderly marketing of the crop. The crop prediction apparently was larger than some officials had hoped, but Secretary Wallace said the administration saw no cause for anxiety.

He added that if world consumption were maintained at present levels, foreign and domestic mills could be expected to require considerably in excess of 11,000,000 bales of American cotton. In addition he said that the stocks of cotton held by the government, amounting to approximately 5,000,000 bales, would not be available to purchasers except at a price in excess of 13 cents a pound, and therefore this cotton would not come in competition with the new crop until prices reached that level.

No Cause for Anxiety. The administration sees no cause for anxiety in the present crop.

EXTRA GUARDS USED TO PROTECT NEGRO WHO SLEW OFFICER

MOB GATHERS ABOUT MILES CITY, MONT., COURTHOUSE FOLLOWING SHOOTING

MILES CITY, Mont., Aug. 8.—(P)—Extra guards paced the courthouse grounds today to prevent renewed threats against a negro accused of killing one police officer, shooting another and wounding a negro woman.

The guards were sworn in after a mob gathered about the building and sent a committee of four inside for an unsuccessful search for the negro, who gave his name as George Criner.

The crowd dispersed later, but the guards were kept on duty. Sheriff Taylor, who arrested Criner, refused to say whether the negro had been taken to another town for safe keeping.

Criner was accused of shooting to death James Fraser, 76, a veteran policeman, and wounding Police Chief James Sullivan in the hip, when the officers investigated.

TWENTY-EIGHT PERSONS TO FACE TRIALS FRIDAY AS RESULTS OF RIOTS

DALLAS, Aug. 8.—(P)—Strike riots, such as one here yesterday in which several women were stripped and spanked in the streets, are banned today by Police Chief Bob Jones. Police on duty in the garment manufacturing district were ordered to prevent any recurrence of the disorders.

A guard was maintained all night at the Dallas Country club after it was rumored threats had been made that the strikers would attempt further violence during the Southwestern Fall Style show.

Charges ranging from blocking the sidewalk and destroying property to disturbing the peace and interfering with an officer were filed against 27 women and one man. Two other men were charged with inciting a riot.

NAVARRO COUNTY COTTON GINNERS WITHHOLD ACTION

NO DEFINITE ACTION TOWARD SECURING RELIEF FROM TANGLE TAKEN

By a majority vote ginner of Navarro county meeting at the call of the central cotton committee decided to withhold any action toward securing relief from the present legal tangle which is tying up the movement of 1935 cotton until Monday. Another meeting of the ginner will be held Monday at 10 a. m. to discuss the decision rendered in the case at Houston on Thursday and other plans that may be developed in the meantime.

About forty ginner and others answered the call for the meeting held Wednesday morning in the auditorium of Corsicana Public Library. N. Edens, chairman of the cotton committee, presided at the session.

The chairman stated that it was not the purpose of the meeting to discuss the merits of the injunction suit filed or any of the resulting legal tangles, nor the rights or wrongs of the situation, but the session was principally to form a concerted plan of action that would treat all parties alike and would enable the movement of the cotton crop which is due to start to the gins within a few days.

Copies of the affidavits used by the Brownwood organization to secure relief from the injunction were distributed for use of Navarro county ginner if they desired.

Considerable variance of opinion on the basis for the suit was expressed and crept into the meeting in spite of the efforts of the presiding officer, J. L. McCulloch, retiring director of the Texas Ginner's association, stated that it was his opinion that every member of the organization was involved in the suit, although this was questioned by others.

Attacks Article.
A. G. Smith, Corsicana ginner, attacked an article written by A. A. Allison that appeared in a state paper recently, and insisted that it made the ginner appear in the wrong attitude.

After considerable discussion as to the proper method to take to secure relief, Mr. Allison asked for permission to speak, and it was granted. He declared that he thought that the ginner were entitled to compensation for their services in collecting the taxes, and agreed that they were the friends of the farmers. He declared that the collectors of internal revenue were prevented from sending out sale tags by the orders handed down by Federal Judge Bryant at Sherman, and was of the opinion that an exemption form the injunction was the only possible means of relief.

Joe B. Fortson read a prepared statement to the ginner, calling attention to the improvement in ginning prices in recent years, and asserting that he would be satisfied to absorb the cost of handling because of the greater receipts brought about by the Bankhead act. Shortly afterward, John T. Fortson recommended that the ginner take steps to end the suit as rapidly as possible and continue to plant the crop as they did last year.

Urges Concerted Action.
R. L. Hamilton spoke briefly to the ginner, declaring that he was not bothered about the merits or demerits of the various cases, but his desire was for concerted action so that every ginner would have an equal chance. He declared that chaos would result if one ginner secured tags and another in the same community did not because the ginner who had no tags would cut the price of ginning and the other man would be forced to meet it, and so the matter would go on. He asked that the ginner agree on a course of action that would result in serving the best interests of the ginner, farmers, and the general public.

When discussion of the various issues was concluded, Mr. Edens asked that the ginner elect their own chairman for a meeting to determine their course of action. J. L. McCulloch of Dawson was elected over W. A. Simms of Freeport. Mr. McCulloch is a retiring director of the Texas Ginner's association.

A motion by Mr. Simms to have all ginner sign the exemption petition who conscientiously could and forward them to Houston to join in the hearing Thursday was voted down 15 to 12.

A motion by a Kerens ginner to delay action until after the hearing Thursday found 20 supporters and was adopted. Another meeting of the ginner was called for Monday at 10 o'clock, and it was hoped that some solution of the troubles would be available at that time, and that legal representatives of the ginner body would be available. The session adjourned following the adoption of this motion.

Statement by Fortson Bros.
The following statement in connection with cotton ginning situation in Texas was requested publication by Fortson Bros:

The Bankhead Law was passed for the benefit of cotton ginner and was approved by them, as shown by their vote last December 14th, with over 90 per cent favoring the continuance of the law through 1935.

Texas received the greatest benefit from this law in 1934 by reason of the millions of dollars received for certificates for cotton they did not raise on account of the terrible drought. We believe the Ginner's Association should withdraw their suit and should not further oppose or contest the Bankhead law. Ginner should co-operate in the interest of their farmer customers.

"No other cotton growing state has filed any such suit, and Texas surely should be the last to protest the law, since it has benefited most.

"We appreciate the effort of the Agricultural department. We remember the terrible conditions of agriculture and the country when the present administration took over the reins of government. Cotton worth 5 to 6c, cotton seed here paid for ginning. We hope there will be no further protest of any kind against the agricultural set-up.

"FORTSON BROS., Ginner."

BROKEN BOW, Okla., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The lean, brown hands of William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, which once held the reins of state in Oklahoma, now tug at the lines of a 1,200-pound mule which pulls the former governor's latest acquisition, a shiny "one horse" farm wagon.

The mule and wagon will furnish all the transportation necessary on his farm, he said. No longer will he hitch-hike to town after mail and supplies, as has been his custom.

Many improvements are being made to the Southeastern Oklahoma farmstead. The old house has been repaired and an addition built to house Burbank Murray, the youngest son, just returned from a military training camp. Murray, senior, is supervising the erection of fencing all around the farm.

"All hands work around here," smiled Mrs. Murray pleasantly, looking up from her work of "patching and mending." With her daughter, Jean, she has canned over 60 quarts of fruit for winter use.

"Alfalfa Bill" is getting ready to erect a smokehouse and other outbuildings. He isn't in a hurry, though.

"It takes time to make a home," he says.

Murray is no dilettante farmer. His agricultural background, gained as the leader of a trek of American farmers to the Bolivian Chaco, is apparent as he explains his philosophy of the use of the soil. He talks of farming with the forcefulness which at times focused the nation's attention upon him as governor.

TWO PROMINENT MEN KILLED WHEN TRAIN STRIKES AUTOMOBILE

THREE YOUNG GIRLS WERE INJURED IN ACCIDENT AT GRADE CROSSING

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Henry E. Hardner, wealthy Alexandria, oil and lumberman, and Lynn Richey, until recently Alexandria City attorney, were fatally injured today and three young girls were badly hurt, in a grade crossing automobile crash. Hardner was a former state senator.

The two prominent Central Louisiana citizens died from injuries suffered when an automobile in which they were taking the three young girls to Biloxi, Miss., was demolished, and dragged 100 feet by a westbound Missouri Pacific freight train at Kahn.

The five accident victims were strewn along the track.

Richey died soon after the crash of a probable skull fracture and other injuries, and Hardner succumbed ten minutes after admission to a Baton Rouge hospital. There was some delay in establishing identifications.

The condition of the young girls was described as not critical unless internal injuries developed.

Their injuries were said to consist principally of broken bones and lacerations.

The girls were Henrietta Hardner, daughter of the dead man; Jeanie Holbrook, 13; and Frances Spangler, 12.

The Hardner girl was the least injured apparently. Examination showed no bones broken, and her principal hurts were attributed to bruises and shock.

One of Jeanie Holbrook's arms was broken and she suffered severe bruises. The third girl had a collarbone and an arm broken.

Taking Girls on Outing.
Hardner and Richey were taking the girls to the Mississippi Gulf coast for an outing.

The crossing is obscured by high sugar cane.

Both Hardner and Richey were well known in Louisiana and Rapid Parish politics and were identified with the Louisiana factionists opposed to Senator Huey P. Long's state administration.

Hardner was a member of the state senate prior to 1928 when he was defeated for reelection by O. K. Allen, now governor.

He was a member of the 1921 state constitutional convention, and was born in 1870 of German ancestry.

His business interests included service as president of the Louisiana Farm Company, president of the Natchez, and Ruston railway company, and as director of several oil companies.

Ohio City Flooded.
COSHOCTON, O., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Flood waters claimed one life, drove 300 families from their homes and caused property damage estimated at $100,000 in Coshocton county today.

to two types, commercial and "peasant" farming. Murray declares the first type has not proved profitable and is hazardous to the country's welfare.

He wants it known he is a "peasant" farmer, believing in the live at home method.

"Raise sufficient food for the family, and feed crops for the livestock, and sell the surplus," he advises.

There is no tractor on the Yashau Creek homestead. But there are blooded hogs, a cow and a calf, two mares, two mules—and the shiny new farm wagon with a real spring seat which Murray himself assembled after buying it for $55.

Mrs. Maud Anderson has returned from South Texas where she conducted a revival meeting.

THE GORGEOUS SUBWAY

The new Moscow subway ranks as one of the feats of modern construction worth a journey to see. It differs from other subways—in London, Paris and New York—by being sumptuous, luxurious and splendid. The awed visitor gazes on long, wide avenues with arched ceilings, delicately lighted with concealed lamps that shed a soft, white glow from pillars that spread upward like fans. An American newspaper man reports that they look somewhat like luminous pieces of carved ice. It all gives an effect of coolness and limitless space. But it is a little incredible, like "an elaborate interior in a Hollywood film where photography gives false depth and height."

The Russians put their natural treasures into this structure. It contains black and red granite from the Ukraine, copper-red and old rose marble from the Crimea. There are a dozen hues of marbles from the Ural. There are quantities of malachite, porcelain, white glass and black glass. The subway is remarkable in other respects. It was built by 1,000,000 of Moscow's inhabitants, men and women, boys and girls. Many of them worked without pay on their free days from factory jobs. Seventy-five per cent of the work was finished in nine months. In other subways the air is not all that could be desired. In the Moscow subway the air is fresh and clean as a day in the field. That is about the last word in underground achievement.

MENTAL ANEMIA AFTER LUNCH

Mental sluggishness soon after a hearty meal is not a new phenomenon, but there is a new name for its cause. "Mental anemia" brings on that sluggishness. Mental anemia, in turn, is the result of an unwise heavy meal, to take care of which the digestive organs must draw more blood away from the brain.

Dr. Donald A. Laird of Colgate University, who has conducted extensive search into the causes and conditions of sleep, has been studying post-luncheon dull-wittedness with considerable success. Eight young men ate their meals in the Colgate psychological laboratory. Half the time they ate "light dairy lunches." The rest of the time they ate a "fairly heavy meal." Upon a luncheon of crackers and milk, the subjects' minds acted with 6.6 per cent more speed and 25.3 per cent greater accuracy. The ability to concentrate was impaired 70 per cent more by the hearty meal.

Dr. Laird believes the results would be even more striking in an office than in the laboratory, since both "disinclination and lessened capacity" would be factors in the former.

Better not tell the small fry about this, or they'll be saying their "disinclination" to do their homework and help with a few odd jobs around the house is entirely the result of being compelled to eat all those vegetables.

It's too bad that, with all the boondoggling projects, no relief director seems to have started a revival of the ancient and soul-satisfying art of whittling. What we need in a depression is more and better whittling.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1935, Edgar A. Guest.)

A WAYWARD GOLFER
I lack a keen and subtle touch
Which to a golfer means so much
Nor have I that within me which
Assures a deadly mashie pitch.
A nearby bird may start to sing
And something happens to my swing.

I know what should be done and how;
What for a cross wind to allow.
I've learned to gauge and now and then
Can battle with the best of men;
But mine is such a wayward soul
I have no power of self-control.

At times with putts I ought to sink
Of something else I seem to think.
I wonder just what kind of bird
Produced that silver note I heard.
And goes a game no man can play
When once his mind begins to stray.

Till never be a golfer great,
Because I cannot concentrate.
Though much I love the game, I find
I have a most unruly mind.
Which thinks of countless happier things
Than mangle shots and braise swings.

BEANS AT BALL GAMES

Few city people have suspected, from the rural interest long shown in soy beans, how far this strange enthusiasm was going to go. Toasted soy beans, salted and packed like peanuts and eaten in the same way, are on sale now in hotels and delicatessen shops of Chicago and some other cities. There is said to be a conspiracy afoot, centering in Michigan and one or two other states where this legume grows readily, to force it into competition with the peanut at ball games and circuses.

It may be, as was maintained lately at a soy bean conference in Dearborn, Mich., that there is hardly any purpose in the realm of food, paint and various other branches of civilized life, for which this once humble Chinese vegetable is not adequate. Every new use for it helps agriculture and probably adds to the interest and variety of life. It does seem a pity, though, to crowd out the peanut, which is not only close to the popular heart of America but has had as many or more uses for it discovered by scientists. We are likely to hear a howl from the peanut people.

TRIAL PUBLICITY

The American Bar Association has turned a critical eye upon court procedure and legal ethics, apparently with the intention of correcting abuses. Its own committee on co-operation between the press and the bar, in a recent report, criticizes particularly the conduct of the Bruno Hauptmann trial.

"To treat a simple trial as a public show is to cheapen life itself by causing people generally to undervalue the life of the criminal, and to increase the morbid desire of sensation seekers." The report recommends that a committee be established on the relations between the press and bar, consisting of a small number of lawyers of outstanding ability, and representatives of the Associated Press and other recognized press associations to make a nation-wide survey of conditions surrounding the publicity given to criminal trials.

This is no easy problem to tackle, but the sooner all concerned get at it the better. A proper amount of publicity is essential for the preservation of the rights of accused persons and the information of the public. But the public has no right to demand that a trial be served up as a sensational and emotional feast to satisfy morbid curiosity.

There has been a wave of reaction against such inexcusable side-shows as accompanied the Hauptmann trial. The public as well as the Bar Associations share in this feeling of shame and disgust. If press, bar and court act now to prevent a similar performance in the future they will find the majority of the public with them.

From the way Mussolini talks, you might gather that if Great Britain closes the Suez Canal against him, he'll dig another one next month to get his troops to Abyssinia.

RUSSIAN TRADE

Russian purchases from this country during the next 12 months are to be 150 per cent higher than they have been for the last three years. Interest in this forecast wanes somewhat, though, on learning that the total amount of our exports to Russia for the year will be only $30,000,000. Almost any gain, starting from a mere $12,000,000, makes an impressive looking percentage, but it's the dollars that count.

Even so, it is reassuring to find that we have started at last to get a little of the rich potential market held forth as one of the big inducements for recognition of Soviet Russia. There was a time, a few years ago, when we were selling Russia $100,000,000 or more a year. That was the period when the Soviet government was installing its big industrial plants. It will be really worth while when we reach such a figure again.

Ambassador Bullitt, in making announcement of the new trade pact, made the obviously true statement that "increased imports of Soviet products to the United States will provide the Soviet government with greater purchasing power for American products." It naturally works both ways. The more Russia buys from us, the more we can buy from Russia. The trick is to exchange, as far as possible, goods that do not displace domestic goods and hurt similar industries in the country buying them.

Our principal imports from Russia lately have been furs, coal, sausage, casings and manganese. The first and last of these will not hurt American business much. Russia has far more of them than we have.

Another curious phase of summer madness is people taking with them on vacation trips a lot of good books they think they're going to read, because they'll have so much time for it.

Barbarous tribes hold themselves back mostly by fighting other tribes. Civilized nations hold themselves back mostly by domestic fighting.

Maybe Melvin Purvis is leaving the G-Men because there are not enough big-time gangsters left to make life interesting.

Then, again, if Congress gets all those laws cleaned up, it may have nothing more to do till 1937.

Leon Daniels

Leon Daniels is sales manager for the tire department of Simon Daniels, who are distributors for Goodyear Tires. This firm, located at the corner of Beaton street and Third avenue, was established by Simon Daniels 37 years ago.

When Leon graduated from high school in 1922, the tire department was inaugurated and he was placed in charge. At that time the entire stock was valued at $500. Within a month, however, this enterprising youngster had sold tires so fast that the first began buying them by the carload. Since that time the department has continued to grow by leaps and bounds, until the present time when purchases are made at the rate of two or three carloads of tires at a time.

Leon states that his firm sells Goodyear tires cheaper by buying directly from the factory for cash and selling to the customer for cash, and that his policy is to give fast service and sell from 10 to 25 per cent cheaper than any other tire dealer. He further states that he is proud of a day in March, 1924, when 3,000 Goodyear tires were sold in a single day tire war.

Simon Daniels, who is one of Corsicana's most successful and prosperous merchants, also deals in hardware, implements and furniture. The store has recently been enlarged to accommodate its growing business until it now has a 110-foot frontage on Beaton street. Ten employees, four cars, and a truck are necessary to handle its thriving business.

By alert and energetic management Leon (Himself) has built up from that small beginning a tire business in which the normal stock is 5,000 Goodyear tires and 5,000 tubes. He is well known throughout the Southwest for his dependable service and fair prices and claims to be one of the largest independent tire retailers in the Southwest. ## NOTED TREE-PLANTER OF TEXAS VISITOR IN CORSICANA TUESDAY

Col. George A. Lake of Dallas accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Gilbert H. Clark, were visitors to the Daily Sun office today enroute to Purdon where Mr. Lake will visit his granddaughter, Mrs. Roy Johnson.

Col. Lake is president of the Texas Nut Tree Planting association, an organization which is doing a great work in the planting of trees over Texas at public places, schools and places of interest where native Texas trees will grow and where the public will derive their benefits.

The two most popular trees Col. Lake is planting at these places are offsprings from the big pecan tree at the home of Gen. Sam Houston at Huntsville and from George Washington's home. Many of the pecan trees from Huntsville have been planted in several of the larger cities of the nation, including one on the grounds of the capitol at Washington.

In the near future it is the desire of Col. Lake to plant one of the Sam Houston and George Washington trees on the public school grounds in Corsicana, at which time there will be a ceremonial and dedication exercises with permanent markers placed where the trees are planted.

NEGRO KILLED BY TRAIN IDENTIFIED AS MEXIA RESIDENT

The negro killed Sunday night by a Southern Pacific train, and found Monday morning on the right-of-way, opposite the Magnolia pump station, was identified today as Clifton Tatum, 34, living at 1128 East Palestine Street, Mexia. It was announced today by officials of the Southern Pacific line. The identification was made by Tatum's brother, through the shoes and other wearing apparel found. The body was so badly mangled that identification of it was impossible.

Magnolia employees found the body early yesterday morning. Southern Pacific officials believed that the negro was riding a late fast freight train, and fell between two cars, and was dragged at least 500 feet before his body was thrown to the right of way.

THREE DEAD, TWO CRITICALLY SHOT DOMESTIC TROUBLE

BELOIT, Kas., Aug. 6.—(P)—Ralph James, 35-year-old ex-convict, today shot and killed his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Gould, critically wounding his wife, Helen Gould James, and his 1 1/2 year old son, Bobbie, and then killed himself.

The shooting was said by friends of the Goulds to have been the outgrowth of a family quarrel. James, who operated a barber shop across the street from the Goulds' restaurant, went into the place and appeared to be waiting to place an order for lunch.

When his estranged wife approached his table to take his order, James leaped to his feet, fired a bullet from a 38 calibre revolver through her shoulder. Then he went into the kitchen and fired upon Mrs. Gould. Gould next was fired upon.

James then went out on a porch at the rear of the restaurant and committed suicide.

Mrs. Gould died on the floor of the restaurant, and Gould died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Mrs. James was reported by physicians to be in a critical condition. Bobby was found later also to have been a victim of his father's gunfire, either accidentally or intentionally. At the hospital it was found he had been shot in the abdomen. His condition also was described as critical.

Friends of the Goulds and James said the trouble which led to the shooting started several weeks ago, when Mrs. James was reported to have left her husband after being beaten by him.

Gould filed charges against James of assault and battery with attempt to maim his daughter. The case was dismissed in justice court as a "family quarrel," but it was later pressed in

The habeas corpus proceedings were for W. C. Bowen and Bobbie Bowen, negroes, charged in two indictments for robbery with firearms and assault with intent to murder each, and John Calhoun, negro, charged with robbery with intent to murder, as a result of the attacking of Constable Leo Sands and a companion several weeks ago by several negroes near Chaffin.

The other habeas corpus hearing was for Tommie Paris, negro, charged with murder in connection with the recent fatal shooting of his wife near Angus.

Trio Gunmen Secure Load Legal Liquor

CLEBURNE, Aug. 6.—(P)—Two men were robbed by three gunmen near Albany, Texas, last night of a $3,000 load of legal liquor. The pair, Sam Morris, 25, and A. B. Harley, 25, were left tied in a field between Granville and Cleburne. They succeeded in freeing themselves shortly after midnight, and walked to a farmhouse, where they called Sheriff Oran Smith at Cleburne.

The two were driving a truck for the West Texas Wholesale Drug company.

The case was still pending in district court, and was still pending there. Throughout all the proceedings, James was reported to have been attempting reconciliation with his wife and blamed the Goulds for his failure to bring it about. James is survived by a 21-2 year old son.

COTTON CROP

timate. Wallace said, "There are ample resources available to carry the present stocks financed by the government for an indefinite period."
Wallace said if, when the new crop began to move in volume, there appeared a tendency for prices to be depressed, the administration would not hesitate to offer ample loans that would immediately absorb excess supply.
Strong pressure from the South has been brought for a loan of 12 cents on the 1935 crop.
Twelve-cent loans on the 1934 crop now total $271,775,525 on 4,644,088 bales. These loans are due February 1, 1936.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(P)—Indicated production of cotton this year was placed today at 11,795,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight each by the department of agriculture in its first forecast of the season.
This compares with 9,636,559 bales produced last year, 13,047,262 in 1933 and 14,966,286, the 1928-32 average.
The condition of the crop on August 1 was 73.8 per cent of normal, indicating a yield of 198.3 pounds per acre compared with 89.4 per cent a year ago and a yield of 170.9 pounds last year. The 1924-33 average August 1 condition was 68.7 per cent and average yield 177.1 pounds.

The acreage in cultivation July 1 was 29,166,000 acres or 4.6 per cent more than last year. The 10-year average abandonment, 1925-34, was 2.4 per cent. That would make the area to be harvested 28,450,000 acres. Simultaneously with the production report, the census bureau announced 94,241 running bales, counting round as half bales, of this year's crop had been shipped up to August 1, compared with 99,787 for 1934 and 171,254 for 1933.
The condition of the crop August 1 and indicated production, by states are as follows:
Virginia, condition 75 per cent of normal, and indicated production 31,000 bales; North Carolina 77 and 611,000; South Carolina 75 and 759,000; Georgia 73 and 1,019,000; Florida 78 and 30,000; Missouri 72 and 199,000; Tennessee 68 and 340,000; Alabama 75 and 1,015,000; Mississippi 74 and 1,309,999; Louisiana 75 and 611,000; Texas 74 and 2,851,000; Oklahoma 70 and 927,000; Arkansas 69 and 864,000; New Mexico, 83 and 87,000; Arizona 90 and 122,000; California, 88 and 213,000; all other states 69 and 10,000.
Lower California 80 and 50,000. (Lower California not included in California or in United States total.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(P)—The cotton futures market declined 10 to 20 cents a bale today, as trading was resumed after the reading of the department of agriculture's estimate of the crop.
The government estimate, however, placing the indicated crop at 11,795,000 bales, was only about 367,000 bales above the average expectation of the New York Cotton Exchange members, as revealed by a recent canvass.
Before the reading of the report, prices had ruled 25 to 60 cents a bale higher, but these gains were quickly lost.
The October delivery experienced the sharpest drop, at 11.16 cents, off .56 of a cent a pound. July, however, at 11.06 was only off .02 of a cent a pound.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—(P)—The government crop estimate of 11,795,000 bales of cotton, considered bearish, had little influence on the cotton exchange here today.
When trading was resumed after the release of the report active months were down 7 to 16 points but quickly recovered to levels existing earlier in the morning. October was holding at 11.21, December at 11.16 and January at 11.12.

He said there was little change in the general Italo-Ethiopian situation except that it was likely the conferences among Italy, France, and Great Britain would start about the middle of August in Paris.

He said no foreign newspapermen or photographers representing foreign agencies would be allowed to witness the military maneuvers, in which 500,000 men may be involved, in Northern Italy later this month. He said it was probable that not even Italian newspapermen could witness them.

Several persons were painfully injured when the strikers attacked workers as they went to the plants to start the day's work. The outbreak followed several weeks of peaceful picketing. When the strike was called, violence broke out, but court action and various attempts to settle the labor dispute apparently had eased the situation until the new flare-up of violence yesterday.

BOY KILLED

descended the side of the glacier sharpened opening.
Robert Henderson, also 15, of Omaha, Neb., Brode's companion on a mountain climb which ended in tragedy when they attempted to descend, gave directions to the searching parties that have been hunting throughout the Lindbergh peak country since Tuesday night.
Henderson said he was "positive" the body would be found in the "chimney" he said after Brode fell he climbed down the cliffs and saw his body there. Then he ran for help.
An airplane search was abandoned and all efforts were concentrated on reaching the bottom of the "chimney."

AMARILLO, Tex., Aug. 8.—(P)—Mr. and Mrs. Julian Brode of Memphis, Tenn., en route to Camp Chief O'Leary, Colo., where their 15-year-old son, F. W. (Bilby) Brode II, was reported to have fallen to his death, landed here at 9:12 (CST) today in a chartered plane. They planned to take off for enver as soon as the plane could be refueled. Brode said they expected to reach Denver by 1 o'clock.
The Brodes took off at 10:30 o'clock. They were scheduled to be met at the Denver airport by the superintendent of the Y. M. C. A. Camp which young Brode was attending at the time of his death.

DALLAS, Aug. 8.—(P)—Mr. and Mrs. Julian Brode, parents of 15-year-old William Brode whose body was believed to have fallen from Camp Chief O'Leary, Colo., took off in a chartered plane at 5:10 a. m. (CST) for Denver. They arrived here from Memphis at 1 a. m.
Brode said they planned to make a stop at Amarillo, Texas, and would fly direct from there to Denver, probably arriving about noon. Mr. and Mrs. Brode left Memphis, Tenn., at 8 p. m. yesterday and they stopped here on a short rest.
The parents had not learned until they arrived in Dallas that it was believed searchers for their boy had found his battered body at Lindbergh Peak near the Y. M. C. A. camp he was attending.

CAMP CHIEF O'LEARY, Colo., Aug. 8.—(P)—A weary man searched for a long time for a look for the body of William Brode, 15, as a youthful companion told with trembling lips of their fatal assault on a treacherous mountain side.
The body of the son of an old Memphis "Tom" family was believed lodged beyond sight, and possibly beyond recovery, in a funnel shaped crevice into which he fell late Tuesday.

Robert Henderson, also 15, of Omaha, Neb., had directed mountaineers to the spot after he had been found, badly cut about the feet by sharp rocks and almost incoherent, after running for help.
"Brode suddenly fell," Henderson said. "He hit the mountain twice. I yelled and called to him but he never answered me."
The lads were descending a mountain adjoining Lindbergh Peak, a 2-mile high granite scintilla when their attention was distracted by a sound as of falling rocks. A moment later Brode lost his footing.

Brode's weak heart had caused him to lose his footing on a mountain lake Tuesday while other members of a Y. M. C. A. summer camp were taken on a supervised mountain climb.
Apparently Brode had been stung by bees of the other boys about his having to remain near the camp, for he was heard to respond, in a soft drawl:
"Some day I'll climb the biggest old hill in Colorado."

Julian Brode, Memphis cotton dealer, and Mrs. Brode, parents of the boy, made an overnight stop in Dallas, Texas, early today en route here in a special plane. They were informed their son's resting place apparently had been found.
Lindbergh Peak, adjoining the spot where young Brode fell, rises 12,000 feet and was named for the flier, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, due to a unique attempted exploit several years ago.
Colonel Lindbergh, then a barnstormer, tried to win a commercial prize offered for landing a plane on a glacier near the peak, but was refused permission to enter because his ship was considered so old and dilapidated as to be unsafe for flying.

ETHIOPIA

Kings, realizing Addis probably would be Italy's first goal, may decide to no to defend it forcefully, but to use punitive surprise tactics elsewhere.
This belief was based on reports that Haile Selassie discussed with his chiefs recently concentration of his forces on the Italian Somali-land front, so that if war should come, they could swoop into the apparently slightly defended area.
The refusal to permit troops to concentrate in the Eritrea section was attributed further by government circles to the emperor's ardent desire to prevent another border incident, which he was represented as feeling would render present peace efforts futile.

Reports circulating in the capital said that if the Italians advanced from Eritrea, Haile Selassie would drive into Italian Somaliland on the same day, counterbalancing any loss of territory.
The mobilization of Ethiopian warriors continued, but heavy rains were rendering their movements most difficult.
Not even Ethiopian officials were able to say how many troops could be put into the field in the event of hostilities.

The prince's tutor, Dadjasmach Wodajo, a famous tribal warrior, was organizing a force expected to total 120,000 men for the defense of the northern frontiers.

The government issued strict orders against continuance of the custom of wailing and holding public mourning for deaths caused by fighting or disease.
Emperor Haile Selassie, who has declared he does not want to be mourned if he is killed on the battlefield, was determined to harden his people for conflict.

GERMANY

Jewish world republic said the forthcoming dissolution would "finish a special chapter in world history, and the guardian of the Nazi ideal will be alert."
Jews accused of trying to hide their race to escape anti-Semitism appeared to stand in the center of Nazi determination to purify German blood.
Der Angriff, newspaper of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, directed an attack against Jews covering up by becoming Christians, and asked how much longer the Protestant church would continue to baptize Jews.

Claim Jews Baptized.
The newspaper named two protestant ministers in Berlin who it said have baptized 14 Jews since the Nazis have come to power.
"Today the youngest boy knows the orthodox Jew to baptize, but a believing Christian through a handful of water," said Der Angriff.
"The secret police also have known baptized Jews to use willingly the baptismal certificate for what is little more than a swindle in that former Protestant Moses Finenstein after a year becomes Catholic Moses Finkenstein."

His personal record later shows he came from the ranks of Protestantism to Catholicism.
Price Rises Troublesome.
Despite this, said the newspaper, some Protestant ministers continued to baptize Jews, but "we have convinced the largest part to have no more hope in Israelites."

One provincial newspaper suggested that all Jewish stores should bear signs identifying them as such.
How to hold down prices was still puzzling officials, while two more Stahlheim (Steel Helmet) veterans United disappeared—one by edict and the other "voluntarily."

One butcher shop was closed at Herbon because its proprietor boosted the price of sausage. Nine shops were threatened with forced closures, but the other eight merchants agreed to lower their prices.

PROPERTY CLASS SHOULD BEAR HEAVY TAXATION BURDEN

SPOKESMAN FOR INTERNAL REVENUE BUREAU APPEARS BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (P)—A decision to block efforts to attack bonus payment or other "extraneous" issues to the Roosevelt tax bill was reached today by senate democratic leaders.

At the same time they agreed to give bonus legislation preferred status at the next session of congress.

Expressing hope that this would speed adjournment, senator Robinson, the majority leader, said many bonus advocates felt a tax bill amendment would not develop the full strength that the proposal might muster if offered separately next year.

Earlier, Robert H. Jackson, internal revenue bureau counsel, told a senate committee considering the tax bill that added revenue to go toward balancing the budget and paying the cost of fighting the depression should be contributed by the "property class" according to its ability to pay.

He declared there had been a "general conspiracy" among the rich to evade taxes in the past.

The senate democratic chiefs decided that bonus or other riders offered to the tax bill, which was passed yesterday by the house, would be tabled. This is a method rarely used to dispose of unwanted legislation.

Senator Thomas (D-Ill.) had planned to offer the Patman bonus bill, which the senate refused to pass over President Roosevelt's veto, as a rider. Senator Frazier (R-Tex.) also planned to offer his bill to refinance farm mortgages with a $3,000,000,000 issue of new currency.

A statement by Robinson said: "At a joint meeting of the steering and policy committees of the senate majority held this morning, it was decided to make the subject matter of bonus legislation a special order for a date in January—the exact date to be hereafter fixed."

Adding Now Impracticable.

"Many advocates of the bonus feel that it is impracticable to secure action during the present session and realize that attempts to attach bonus legislation as riders to bills on other subjects would render it impossible to secure full consideration and to develop the strength of any fair bonus measure that might be advanced as a rider."

"The committee felt that this subject should not be complicated with other legislation, but should be dealt with separately and on its merits."

"It was also agreed that if riders proposing legislation irrelevant to the subject matter of the bill under consideration at any time during the remainder of this session be offered, the chairman is authorized to move to table the same."

"While no attempt was made to fix a date of adjournment, it is felt that this policy will contribute to the conclusion of the work of the present session."

Bonus Forces to Meet.

Senator Thomas later said the democratic strategy would not interfere with his plans for a meeting of house and senate bonus forces to discuss the merits of whether to offer the proposal as a tax rider.

"If they don't get unanimous consent to limit time on the tax bill they must move forward by tabling," commented Senator Borah (R-Idaho). "I've got a feeling they won't get unanimous consent."

Asked if this was a threat of a filibuster, he replied in the negative.

"There may be full discussion," he added.

Borah agreed the bonus and farm mortgage proposals should be considered separately, but asked where any opportunity to consider them was offered.

"The Frazier-Lemke bill would be considered in five hours," he said, adding:

"I get a chance to vote to put the bonus on I'm going to do it."

Connally Gets

Letter; Sends Warm Answer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (P)—Senator Connally (D-Tex.) has made public a letter from C. S. Wurts of Philadelphia criticizing his utility bill vote and his reply to what he termed "coarse impertinence."

Wurts' letter to Connally: "Sir: It is my fervent hope that your favorable vote for the public utilities holding company bill will result in your losing your seat in the senate."

Connally's reply: "Dear Sir: I have your intimidating letter. Because I voted for the 'death sentence' in the utility bill you hope that I may be defeated for the senate. It is such a spirit of intolerance and exploitation on the part of manipulators of holding companies in Philadelphia, Chicago and New York which has aroused so much public indignation."

"My vote for the so-called 'death sentence' was for what I believed to be the public interest and I am wholly indifferent to your coarse impertinence and presumption."

"I am responsible for my vote to the people of Texas alone."

FORMER SECRETARY OF WAR IN CLASH WITH COMMITTEEMEN

HURLEY ADMITS HIS LAW FIRM RECEIVED $100,000 IN THREE YEARS

By NATHAN ROBERTSON Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (P)—A turbulent session of the senate lobby committee today produced testimony that the law firm of Patrick J. Hurley, Hoover Secretary of War, received $100,000 in the last three years from the Associated Gas and Electric System.

In marked contrast to the violent clashes between the dapper former cabinet officer and committee members, Joseph P. Tumulty, former secretary to President Wilson, then told calmly of fees received the last two years which totaled $100,700.

This included $33,500 from utility companies for assistance in their fight against the Wheeler-Rayburn Holding company regulation bill. Tumulty said, adding his work was "not lobbying but advisory."

At the conclusion of the hearing, Chairman Black said the committee had mailed questionnaires to telegraph offices in 50 cities about the Wheeler-Rayburn bill.

Showing 34,792 telegrams had been sent on the bill and all but three were filed and paid for by representatives of the utility companies. Explaining he represented associated shareholders, Hurley said: "I've never taken a case from anyone that was incompatible with the public welfare and these shareholders have a constitutional right to sue services."

During one of the frequent interludes with committee members, the outspoken Hurley shouted: "Oh, yes, you gentlemen are all prosecutors."

Frequently he accused committee members of "putting words in my mouth" and at one point inquired sarcastically why he was not asked if he had quit beating his wife.

"I am a gold fish in a bowl," he shouted another time. "You can see me from any angle." Hurley said he received $50,000 for appearing before the senate finance committee year before last, $25,000 the following year for representing the Associated before the trade commission and in other matters and $25,000 this year for aiding in its activities against the utility bill.

Hurley denied he ever had lobbied.

Shouts at Chairman.

The former cabinet officer alternately sat and stood at the committee table as he and Chairman Black shouted at each other.

Black denied the committee was unfair to Hurley. He refused to let the tall former secretary of war make a final speech to the committee.

Hurley left the stand advising the committee to read the golden rule.

The hearing started with a warm clash between Hurley and Chairman Black.

Tumulty Fees Large.

Joseph P. Tumulty, former secretary to President Wilson and now an attorney here, called next, and said he was employed by a number of utility companies for advice in connection with the Wheeler-Rayburn bill.

Questioned by Black, he said he had received $100,000 from the American Waterworks, $25,000 from Public Service of New Jersey, and $12,500 each from the Commonwealth and Southern and City Service corporations. That totals $33,500.

Out of this, he said he had paid or intended to pay $2,500 each to two assistants and $5,000 to former Senator Moses (R-NH).

He described all three as old friends saying he had consulted Moses to get his "congressional viewpoint on legislation of this character."

He said he had received valuable counsel and advice from Moses and the others, and that they were not employed to contact members of congress.

BLAME FOR LOSS OF FOREIGN COTTON MARKETS PLACED UPON GOVERNMENT BY N. O. EXCHANGE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 7. (P)—The New Orleans cotton exchange in its annual report released today placed the blame for the loss of foreign cotton markets squarely upon the government cotton program.

"While conditions prevailing in international finance are recognized as contributing to the decline of American grown cotton in supremacy in world trade," the report signed by Henry Plautche, secretary, said, "it is an inescapable conclusion that governmental policies attempting to hold prices above the world's ideas of value are the principal and constantly accelerating cause of decreased consumption of our cotton and the loss of our dominating position in the cotton trade of the world."

Reviewing the season which ended on July 31, the report stated that the customary price-making factors, such as the weather, growing conditions and crop statistics played a relatively unimportant part in determining cotton values.

"The cotton trade has been centered on the question 'What will the government do next?'" the report said.

Covering the American cotton situation from the farm to the spinner, the report said that "conditions have been the reverse of satisfactory."

The annual summary cited the 2,723,000 bale decline in exports and the 2,212,000 bale drop in world consumption. American cotton as definite indications that the demand for the American staple is on the wane.

On the consuming side of the fiber, the report also painted a gloomy picture.

"Conditions prevailing in the cotton manufacturing industry both North and South at the present time are most unsatisfactory," the report stated. "Uncertainty as to the constitutionality of the act creating the AAA, the uncertainty concerning the continuance of the processing tax, the uncertainty as to the amount to be loaned by the government, if any, on the growing crop, and the uncertainty as to the granting of an export subsidy have all inevitably resulted in buyers adopting a very conservative policy in purchasing the products of the mills and buying only from hand to mouth."

Interpreting the last crop from a dollars and cents standpoint, the exchange placed the total value of the 1934-35 yield at $600,397,480. The 1933-34 yield was $652,207,102. In the previous season when about 4,000,000 bales more were marketed.

The one bright spot in the report was the steady upward march in the price of cotton at 10 spot markets since 1931-32. In the past season it was 12.11 cents per pound, in 1933-34 it was 10.12 cents per pound, in 1932-33 it was 7.03 cents per pound and in 1931-32 it was 5.89 cents per pound.

Special Attorney for Texas U.

AUSTIN, Aug. 7. (P)—Merton Harris, assistant attorney general stationed at Longview in charge of "hot" oil enforcement, today was assigned to handle legal business of the University of Texas.

The attorney general's department said one of the present staff in the East Texas field would succeed Harris.

It was the first time an assistant attorney general was assigned exclusively to University of Texas business, which involves property valued at $60,000,000.

Harris was graduated from the university's law school.

NEW DEAL OPPONENT WINS CONGRESSIONAL SEAT RHODE ISLAND

REPUBLICAN TURNOVER IS FELT ALL ALONG LINE IN TUESDAY'S ELECTION

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 7. (P)—Rhode Island's first congressional district today turns its back on the new deal, electing an anti-administration Republican to the national house of representatives.

Charles F. Risk of Saylesville, a Republican, who campaigned to the tune of "Repudiate the administration's acts," was chosen at yesterday's special congressional election to succeed a Democrat who walked into the seat at the last regular election with a plurality of 21,000.

He defeated State Treasurer Antonio Prince of Woonsocket, Democratic supporter of the New Deal, which was the chief issue of a bitter campaign, by a plurality of more than 10,000.

The complete returns of the 112 election districts gave:

Risk (R), 48,023.
Prince (D), 35,054.

They battled for the seat won at the last regular election by Francis B. Condon, Democrat, and a "pal" of Risk. Condon recently was appointed to the state supreme court bench.

In Rhode Island, political observers interpreted Risk's victory not only as a rebuke to President Roosevelt's policies, but also a sign of disapproval of the state Democrats, who took control of Rhode Island last November for the first time.

First Real Expression.

From New York, Representative Hamilton Fish (R-N.Y.), one of the most outspoken critics of the Roosevelt administration, today called Risk's victory "the first real expression of the people on the New Deal."

The Republican turn-over was felt all along the line. Prince was defeated in his home precinct;

Chicago Women Slayers Given 180 Years Each

CHICAGO, Aug. 8. (P)—Prison sentences of 180 years each were meted out today to Mrs. Blanche Dunkel and Mrs. Evelyn Smith for murdering Ervin J. Lang.

The sentences were passed by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, who yesterday heard the trial of the pair without a jury and found them guilty of slaying the 28-year old grocery clerk who became the paramour of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Dunkel.

The state had asked the electric chair for both. Such a fate for a woman would have been without precedent in Illinois.

Risk won in his home town, which went Democratic at the November election, and Central Falls, birthplace of Risk, voted Republican for the first time in a score of years.

Then, Pawtucket elected a Republican state representative in a district normally overwhelmingly Democratic; East Providence elected a Republican state senator by 1,800 more votes than it did a year ago, and Newport elected its first Republican mayor in almost 20 years.

Marked in Thread Mills.

Risk is 35 and as a boy worked in the Pawtucket thread mills. He was graduated from the public schools of Central Falls, his birthplace, and enlisted in the army for service in the World War.

The day of his discharge from service he entered the employ of the treasury department in Washington, studying law at Georgetown University while he worked.

He was graduated from Georgetown's law school and studied in the office of Condon. He rose to the district court bench in Rhode Island.

At Newport, Henry S. Wheeler, a Republican, was elected mayor to fill the unexpired term of one year of Mortimer A. Sullivan (D), recently appointed to the superior court bench.

Wheeler received 5,440 votes to 4,166 for Jeremiah P. Mahoney, the Democratic candidate.

HOW TO BURN

SUNBURN OILS
Instead of spending large sums of money for oils to give you a nice summer tan, Miss Forbes tells you how to make them up yourself.

With late August and early September vacations still ahead of us, it might be a good idea to discuss a simple and effective method of tanning without acquiring a painful coat of sunburn. The only method, as you know, is to give the skin so thoroughly a coat of oil that the sun cannot burn in the literal sense of the word, but will only brown the skin, at the same time opening the pores and feeding the oil into them.

First of all, you do not need to spend money for sunburn oil. If you do, buy an inexpensive variety, for all of them are made of approximately the same thing. Olive oil, almond oil, peanut oil, sesame oil, and castor oil are used in various combinations. Coconut oil, by itself or mixed with its own amount of castor oil, is probably as effective a sunburn oil as anything.

I have not found any absolute sunburn preventive. If you are what the scientists call a heliophobe—that is, a person who cannot stand any long exposure to the sunlight, then your best method of protection is a large hat, gloves and a parasol, and wearing sheer, dark-colored dresses, or red dresses, to keep the actinic rays off your skin.

This sort of thing takes much of the fun out of vacationing; therefore it is much pleasanter and also healthier to put on a bathing suit, coat yourself with a half-and-half mixture of castor and coconut oils, and lie out in the sun long enough to toughen the skin. If very sensitive, start with ten minutes the first day, 15 the next, and so on, but remember that the time depends on the strength of the sun at the particular moment when you are sun-bathing.

A mixture of half olive oil and half vinegar will produce a pleasant tan, but takes longer to make the skin brown. This is such a cool preparation that lots of people prefer it to heavier oils.

N. A.—The hot olive oil had nothing to do with your pores enlarging. Probably you had not noticed the pores getting in that state until you began the oil treating. Even though you did not close the pores at that time, your skin would have recovered from the treatment. Always make the oil rinse after bathing very cold, and douche the skin with cold water after a massage, as both the warm bath and the massage will relax the skin, and also open the pores. Several times a week go over your skin with a piece of absorbent cotton dampened with witch hazel. This will set as an astringent and also help to contract the pores.

Mrs. A. R. D.—An effective exercise for the hips and abdomen is done as follows: Stand with feet six inches apart, hands on hips; bend forward at the waist and circle all the way around from the front to sides, back, sides, and front again. Reverse the direction, so all sets of muscles are fully exercised. Another way to keep the hips from spreading is to stretch the entire body, and never let yourself slump at the waistline. Hold your body up so no part settles.

Mrs. B.—About four heaping handfuls of Epson salts to a third of a bathtubful of hot water will answer for the usual bath. This strength will open pores so the system is relieved of a great deal of toxic matter, and it will also effect some reduction when there is need for it. Loss of weight from such a bath is a temporary matter, if the same condition continue that brought about the extra weight.
